A MISDEMEANOR.—Last night after A. H. Damon the expressman retired some mischievous individual took the bars from both wheels on one side of his wagon, and this morning when he started out on his work of course the wheels came off, letting him down severely with the wagon. Mr. D. knows just about who perpetrated the act, and may conclude to prosecute the culprit.

OREGON AND DAKOTA.—Two Dakota men met on the streets of Salem the other day, when one immediately broke loose to his friend about the hard times. "Why," he said, "this is a hell of a country. I came here for work, and 50 cents a day is the most I have been able to earn for the past three months." "Well," said his friend, "that is just 50 cents a day more than a man can get in Dakota, so we shouldn't find fault."

A FALSE RUMOR.—A senseless rumor to the effect that a certain man's name for postmaster at Salem had been sent to the president by the Portland postmaster general yesterday, was circulated on the streets last night. Neither the president or postmaster general were in Washington, and there is absolutely no business being transacted at the departments, nor will there be until after the holidays.

HORSE KILLED.—B. S. Radabaugh, the liveryman, this morning turned out one of his best driving teams for exercise on the vacant lot facing State and Water streets. One of the animals playfully kicked the other, breaking its leg. The animal was immediately shot and disposed of.

THEY ARE NOT HUNGRY.—One thing of Salem's population is not hungry, in fact no one who buys the necessities of life from Clark & Epley is hungry, for they get their goods at the lowest prices and can afford to buy enough.

REFORM MEETING.—The friends of reform, and economy in office, are requested to meet at Good Templars Hall, upstairs north of P. O., on Thursday evening, Dec. 28th, at 7:30 p. m. to organize for business. COM. dit

HOW IT WORKS.—A Salem loan firm says they have word from a foreign capitalist who was placing money here to be loaned that all negotiations are off until the statements of Oregon's governor are cleared up.

OUR DAILY BEVERAGE.—Do we have the best? That is what we want. The way to get it is to try those excellent lines of teas, and the fine Mocha and Java coffee at Van Eaton's.

CHANGES IN THE WEATHER.—The cold mornings and bright days make no difference in the work of Lockwood messengers. Rig the blue box, and see them fly to your service.

STUDENTS ABROAD.—Sixteen of the Willamette University students, ten young gentlemen and six young ladies, went up to Turner yesterday afternoon, jolly crowd in three rigs, and gave a rousing entertainment consisting of drama, dialogue, pantomime and music to a small, though very appreciative audience. The evening chosen was not the most propitious, as several of the most prominent families came down to Salem to attend the Masonic Installation, yet the participants returned elated with their adventure, and satisfied that the Turner people would not slight them should they wish to serve them another literary treat.

PERSONALS. Gen. H. B. Compton is at Portland for several days.

BIG JEWELRY CAPTURE.

A Yamhill County Sheriff Compels a Burglar to Disgorge.

Deputy Sheriff Conner, of McMinnville, came to Salem Wednesday afternoon bringing with him the clever young burglar Harry Hill who was arrested in this city a few weeks since, by the Salem police. He had disposed of a gold watch at a house of ill-repute in this city where Chief of Police Minto found it and soon had his man.

The young man was 23 years old and answered to the name of John Doe when arraigned here, but beyond that gave no clue to his identity, beyond revealing to the trained eyes of the officers here the fact that he was a daring and experienced crook.

The problem before Conner was the recovery of $500 worth of jewelry, gold pens, and watches which the robber had secured from E. A. Smith, the jeweler in Charles Grisen's book and music store. The thief was close as a steel trap, but Conner finally persuaded him that he was known and that the jewelry and watches would do him not the least good, and would only be ruined by being left out hid in the woods where he supposed they were.

Hill relented, and upon promise of Smith to employ an attorney to defend him, consented to reveal the plunder and came on to Salem for that purpose.

THE VALUABLES FOUND. Conner had Hill handcuffed and would give him no rope, as he had a struggle with him in taking him to McMinnville. He had with him liveryman Henry, the same driver from whose rig the murderer and suicide Wilson escaped. They drove up to the bank of the river a mile toward Eola, and in a pile of driftwood heaped up by the flood the articles were found safely stored away.

Conner was not satisfied. He knew there was more. They then came to this end of the big bridge and found several more of the lost watches, one worth $150 when new, in a pile of cordwood.

MYSTERIOUS ACTIONS. In the package first unearthed was a pair of earpops and a brooch that Hill begged to be allowed to keep. He said they did not belong to the Smith stock. He said they possessed no value to anyone but himself and seemed so anxious to have them that the officers yielded. Coming across the big bridge he threw them in the river and seemed greatly relieved to be rid of them.

Whether they were evidence of some crime, or as Hill said, that he did not want his family to be able to trace his whereabouts, the officers could not say. He was evidently very deeply affected by the worthless baubles and glad to be rid of them. There are still several watches missing, an open-faced gold watch, and a silver watch of no great value, that it is thought he disposed of at Salem.

Brands it a Fraud. Ed. JOURNAL: Last evening's Independent published what is supposed to be a complimentary notice of my market display.

I want it distinctly understood that I ordered no such notice, and do not pay for it. For several weeks the editor of that sheet has been maliciously abusing my business, and now this notice leads some people to think I have bought him up to prevent future attacks.

I want to say that I am not buying any of that class of cattle, and do not wish his favors. E. C. CROSS.

Prevention is Better. Than cure, and those who are subject to rheumatism can prevent attacks by keeping the blood pure and free from the acid which causes the disease.

You can rely upon Hood's Sarsaparilla as a remedy for rheumatism and catarrh, also for every form of scrofula, salt rheum, boils and other diseases caused by impure blood. It tones and vitalizes the whole system.

DENOUNCING PENNOYER.

Resolutions Adopted at the Meeting of the Salem Board of Trade.

The many people who have come here through the circulation of the JOURNAL in Eastern states, and the many readers of the JOURNAL now in those states will be curious to know how the statements of Governor Penneyer as to existing destitution are received by the people of Salem.

Outside of those who like the governor or professional clammy bowlers for votes and revenue, the people of Salem and Oregon universally denounce his exaggeration of the distress prevailing all over the country, but well known by all close observers and travelling men to be less prevalent in Oregon than elsewhere.

Even the more intelligent Populists admit he has overstated the facts. PRESIDENT COTTE'S REMARKS. Chairman Cottle announced that the meeting was a public one of the Salem board of trade and citizens of Salem generally, and had been called for the purpose of taking some action upon the Christmas letter addressed to President Cleveland by the governor of Oregon, in which it was stated that about one-quarter of a million of Oregon's population were out of employment and 100,000 more were in destitute circumstances.

Continuing, Mr. Cottle said, that between the several boards of trade and chambers of commerce throughout the state, together with the work done by the Oregon world's fair commission, this state had been widely and honestly advertised and that practical and flattering results had accrued and were still accruing from these efforts, and that he, with many others, felt that the effect of the governor's false statements, throughout the East would be disastrous to the state unless counteracted in some forcible way.

Remarks were made by a number of gentlemen, and the most favorable thing said of the governor's letter was that it would represent matters as being so much worse in Oregon than elsewhere that it would keep even tramps away.

A committee consisting of E. Hofer of THE JOURNAL, E. H. Flag—editor of the Democrat and A. I. Wagner drew up the following, which was unanimously adopted:

THE RESOLUTIONS. Whereas, The governor of the state of Oregon has abused the official position conferred upon him by the people, by addressing to the president of the United States a letter containing certain statements injurious to the commonwealth and calculated to create an erroneous impression in the minds of those not acquainted with the facts, thereby deterring those who might contemplate engaging in productive industries here, therefore:

Resolved, That we, the board of trade and business men of Salem most emphatically deny the assertions of the governor and brand his statements as false, and aver that notwithstanding the prevailing depression, there is no widespread destitution or actual want in Oregon, and that the governor in claiming two-thirds of our people without employment, while one-third are without means of subsistence, was guilty of gross misrepresentation, and we request our representatives in congress to present these resolutions to the president of the United States, and to deny in both senate and house the truth of the governor's statements.

While admitting that Oregon is suffering from the prevailing hard times, we confidently claim that there is less poverty here, in proportion to the population, than in any state in the Union, and the prospects for the future are excellent.

(Signed) Albert I. Wagner, Secy. Salem board of trade.

A Valuable Remedy. Hon. Edmund L. Pitts, the late president of the New York State Senate, writes:

"State of New York, Senate Chamber, Albany, March 11, 1885. I have used Alcock's Purine Plasters in my family for the past five years and can truthfully say they are a valuable remedy and effect great cures. I would not be without them. I have in several instances given some to friends suffering with weak and lame backs, and they have invariably afforded certain and speedy relief. They cannot be too highly commended."

Figures About the Oregon Pacific. Albany Democrat: The report of Mr. Hogue, heretofore referred to, on examination shows an interesting lot of information. It shows that Mr. Hadley and Mr. Gest had been paid only $2,000 each for services, that this amount was for the time from March 6th to May 15th, and was at the rate of $10,000 per year and that no bills had yet been filed for their services from that time forward and no bills for Mr. Fay's services. That if they were allowed at the same rates the bills on file there would be due these gentlemen about $17,000.

Mr. Hogue showed that there had been a loss in the receiver's business of over $80,000 but that the earnings account had been so manipulated as to show a loss of only about $21,000. He gave the items of these peculiar entries, among them being over $3,300 for salvage of the schooner Alice Blanchard and about $4,000 for material sold and about $3,000 loss on wood bought and shipped to San Francisco. He showed that the operating expenses account had been decreased improperly by failure to charge up ties and wood when used. The bills for personal expenses of the receiver and his attorneys amounted for nine months to over $7,000. Mr. Mulcahey's bills in particular excited a great deal of comment.

They were over $150 per month and presented many peculiar items, but they were exceeded in amount by Mr. Gest which amounted to over $250 per month. A bill for expert services was on file, in favor of Mr. E. C. M. Rand for $10,000 for examining Col. Hogg's books and the same man had filed a bill for expenses of over $1100 on the same matter. The assets and liabilities were shown. Mr. Hogue made a statement that the total amount still due on payrolls and bills for material is about $165,000 to November 30th, the date to which the books had been written up. He said the office men had given him access to all books and accounts were well and neatly kept except the wood account which was so badly mixed that nothing definite could be said about it.

He showed that Mr. Hadley had taken in about $225,000 and had paid it all out but about $14,000 on November 30. The payments on account of payroll he gave as over $143,000, of this $40,000 was on account of the payroll of the former receiver and over $103,000 on account of Mr. Hadley's statement published in the Oregonian. In that statement Mr. Hadley places his payments on account of his payroll at above $69,000. As Mr. Hadley admitted in the meeting that Mr. Hogue's figures were correct, either he must have made his figures smaller for a purpose or the clerk who gave them to him made a mistake.
